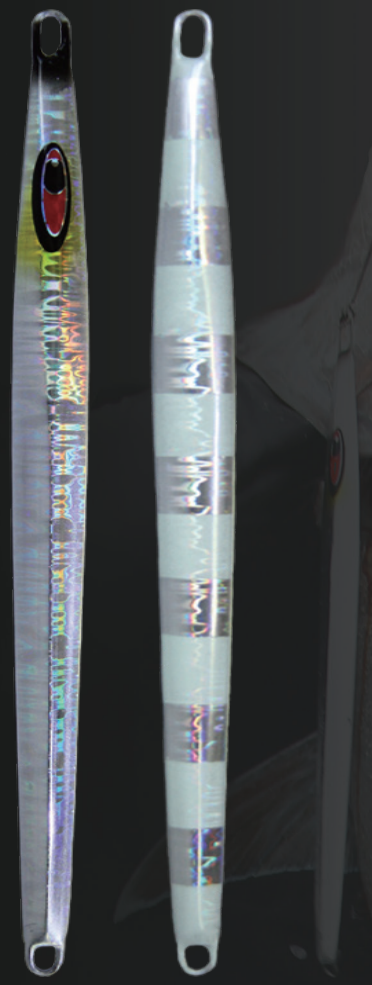
SEAFLOOR CONTROL

messiah



We all know that large, quick fish are attracted to shiny objects moving swiftly through the water. But often these cunning catches are found in more turbulent currents around ledges where it's tough to drop a jig. It's been our dream to develop the optimum long jig for these situations, one that's responsive and slides lively and effortlessly through currents. That dream has come true. The original prototype for this jig was designed by Hiroyuki Kato, a disciple of Noriyuki Sato. This jig was kept secret for years even though it was proven to catch the monsters. We realized this and inspired to make it even better. Our development team took over and fine-tuned its specs making it more precise and improving it's falling action. The result is Messiah...the ultimate long jig for pulling in that catch you've always dreamed of.

SLIDING	LONG	SHORT
